Established by the Santa Barbara High School District in 1911, Santa Barbara City College is the second oldest community college in California. Discontinued shortly after World War One, the college's work was largely taken over by what was to become the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Reorganized in 1946, the institution has rapidly expanded to where it now has over 5,000 students enrolled in credit classes, and over 6,000 students enrolled in non-credit classes. The college moved to its present permanent location in 1959. The Mesa campus is scheduled for completion by 1979.

Board of Trustees Govern Campus

The Board of Trustees is the governing body of the Santa Barbara Community College District, and are elected by the voters to four-year terms. Members of the Board of Trustees are responsible for the maintenance of a sound and superior college program.

The Board is also the policy forming body of the district. The Board of Trustees holds regularly scheduled meetings which are open to the public. This year the Board celebrates its sixth anniversary.

Dr. Gooder Begins With Low Key Approach

New this year to Santa Barbara City College, but definitely not new to the position of Superintendent-President, Dr. Glenn G. Gooder kept matters well in hand during his first year here.

Successing one of the colorful and flamboyant college administrators in the United States, Dr. Gooder received his position here as the best qualified out of a field of 40 applicants. In previous years he was president at one of the largest junior colleges in the nation, Los Angeles City College. Using a low key approach, he would rather the students use the power they have to solve their own problems in a reasonable fashion.

Dr. Gooder asks his secretary about upcoming appointments.

Counselors Guide Us in Decisions

The Counselors here at S.B.C.C. played a very important role. They helped us to make decisions as well as to provide us with information regarding other schools. They were also the deciding mark for many students who were unable to make a decision between two schools or between school and work.

Faculty and Staff

The most student-oriented and involvement-minded groups in academic circles must be the faculty and staff here at Santa Barbara City College. Unlike many other colleges and universities, Santa Barbara City College has successfully sealed any communication gap that may have existed. The students along with the Faculty and Staff realize the necessity of a proper understanding. A few of the many examples of this close co-operation are the Environmental Action Group, the forums, and combined sessions of the Student Council and Academic Senate meetings.

The I.C.C. was formed for the purpose of promoting school spirit and loyalty among clubs, co-ordinating club activities, and acting as a sounding board for new ideas. A president is elected with other student body officers each spring, and each club on campus elects a representative to act in its place on the Inter-Club Council. Library Enhances Instructional Program

One of the most vital buildings to students on campus was the library. Open from 7:45 in the morning until 10:00 at night Monday through Thursday, and until 4:30 Fridays, the library was a focal point for many students.

Of the many features in the library were the typing and audio visual rooms. Although no smoking was allowed in the main reading room, students who needed some nicotine to complete their studies could find it in one of the many conference rooms. Other features of the library were magazines on the mezzanine, and an outdoor patio.

Choral Groups Begin New Season

Under the capable direction of Mr. Harold Dunn, with the aid of accompanist Mr. Mahlon Balderston, this years Choral groups began the new season a smashing success. Combining old songs with new voices, they sang a wide variety of music, from Bach to rock. The Chorus also combined with various different instrumental groups throughout the year to perform for the members of the community.

Musicians Really Move

Among the many parts of our performing arts department, the most active and successful would have to be the instrumental group. The Band took part in most of our football games this year. It also gave many concerts this year both on campus and throughout the College community. This years musicians compiled the best of talent with the best of music for a great sound.

Channels Continues Tradition With Record Year

The Channels, which has won five straight All-American honor ratings from the Associated Collegiate Press at the University of Minnesota, smashed many of its own records during the 1970-71 year.

Most important was its continued independence. Led by the careful planning of Tim Novoselski, editor, and Melissa Rodriguez, business manager, the staff expanded its news and feature coverage, its Letters to the Editor column, and its photojournalism, including process color, with a record 10 eight page papers, and six six page papers in the fall semester. Both of the first issues in the fall and spring semesters featured process color.

In spite of the recession in the United States, Miss Rodriguez led the staff to a record year in advertising to pay for the expanded services to the reader.

The staff was built around the energetic Novoselski, who was sports editor as a freshman. He was involved in every phase of the operation—setting the editorial tone, making assignments, writing news, features, and editorials, copy-editing and editing in the print shop, circulation and advertising.

Novoselski said that next to the newspapers independence, his greatest satisfaction for the year came in the record number of "sell outs" when the paper was distributed on Friday mornings. "The demand for the paper is more important than the national ratings," said the editor.

In addition to Miss Rodriguez, he received outstanding support from other officers: Emily Ann Canfield and Sandy Burnett, associate editors; Malcom Stone, sports editor; William Emil Hertzberg, chief photographer in the fall semester; and Diane Rehtmeyer, assistant business manager in the fall. Miss Canfield wrote a record of 51 stories in the fall semester, breaking the old mark of 40 set by John M. Hansbury in the spring of 1970.

Other members of the fall staff were Jack Drafahl, photographer; Bill McNally and Jim Phillips, sports writers; and Tiffany Porter, Marny Pearce, Nora Tong, Ken Kramer, and Amy Wilson.

Hertzberg and Drafahl completed their City College educations in the fall semester, and were replaced in photography by Doug Baribeau, Doyle Petersen and Loren Herring. Other new members of the spring staff were Emily Zanesco, Jeri McKeon, Susan DeLapa and Pattey Curnow.

Yearbook Staff Does Great Job

Despite seemingly unsurmountable odds, this years Wind 'n' Sea staff produced a great yearbook. Led by Editor Robin Masters with a great deal of assistance from Advisor Mr. John Morrisohn and Company Representative Mr. Viga Hall, the staff ran down and up the 53 steps which led down to the sub-basement staff room. By following a motto of 'Can Do', the staff which was comprised completely of photographers, rescheduled picture after picture when Campus groups and Club Advisors failed to show for a photo appointment. It was all made worthwhile though, when they were informed that all the copy was in to the publisher.

Environmental Action Group Works to Help Save Earth

The Environmental Action Group, which had its formation early this year, works to help save the earth through aiding our environment. The group does this by disseminating information to the community and through projects. One of the groups projects was setting up a recycling center in the lower parking lot. The group also took part in Earth Day activities by sponsoring a booth.

Geology Club Studies Earth by Field Trips

Formed to further student participation in Geology and Geologic Field trips, the Geology Club carries out its purpose by sponsoring guest speakers and movies having to do with Geology. To further student interest, the group sponsors a field trip each semester in coordination with the Geology class. Interest in club activities came to an all time high this year due to the severe earthquakes in the Los Angeles area. Several members of the club went to L.A. to survey the results of the quake.

Volleyball Club Begins Competition

Newly formed this spring, the Santa Barbara City College Volleyball Club represented the college at many non-conference volleyball games. Officially unrecognized by the Western States Conference of which S.B.C.C. is a member, team members must pay their own way to represent the school as no funds are available. The team is led by William Gentry, a 21 year old student coach and team captain, who with the help of Steve Miller, a 17 year old freshman organized the group.

Food Services Provide Learning Fuel

A new feature at Santa Barbara City College this year was the Food Service. For the first time meals served in the cafeteria were cooked or prepared on campus instead of being catered. In addition to preparing meals, the food services area was open all day to provide students with food and snacks between classes.

Phi Beta Lambda Serves Community

To promote leadership, self-improvement, business competency and service to the college and community is the purpose of the Phi Beta Lambda business club. This year, club members helped make a successful year by raising over 1,000 dollars for the March of Dimes. The money was raised by such projects as runimage sales and the selling of sweatshirts, and many other worthwhile projects. The group also sponsored Kendy Malek, a member as a candidate for Homecoming Queen.

The first junior college to offer a Marine Technology program in California, Santa Barbara City College has maintained its lead in this field through rapid expansions in the program. The course serves a two-fold purpose to the students on campus wishing to dive for fun and profit. It also assists students in educational and employment opportunity. The end result in this concentrated two-year program is a marine diving technician qualified for employment.

Homecoming Highlights Football Seasons

One of the highlights at this year's homecoming game was the crowning of Faith Rogan as the 1970 Homecoming Queen at Santa Barbara City College. A sophomore, Faith is planning to transfer to U.C.S.B. in Fall 1971, where she plans to major in Art and Sociology and then become a teacher.

A new feature this year was the naming of princesses. Robyn Basich was named as first princess, and Kendy Malek was named as second princess. Other nominees were Karen Brown, Shelley Cappiello, Jennene Gregg, Timber Haeberle, Sharon Williams, Sharon Wise, and Carla Wormington.

Vaqueros Have Record Year

The 1970 S.B.C.C. Football Team will decidedly go down in school annals as most successful, statistically speaking. A total of 21 records were either set or tied. Amazingly enough, one third of these marks were set by sophomore letterman Jerry Hughes. Among records broken were most yards rushing, 1235, most yards in single game, 259, longest run from scrimmage, 89 yards and a touchdown, and a two year record of 21. Other new records were best punting average, and most yards gained rushing by a team which bettered the previous mark by 130 yards. Despite being bothered by injuries all year, the Vaqueros ended the season as Western State Conference Co-Champions for the second season in a row. Both years the Vaqs represented the Conference in the large school state playoffs. In the first round of the state playoffs, the Vaqs lost to Chabot, the sixth ranked team in the nation.

Coach Rusty Fairly.

Baseball Had High Expectations

Beginning his fifth year at Santa Barbara City College this season, Coach Rusty Fairly has high expectations of this year's Baseball team.

"With the new personnel we have we are going to be an improved hitting team over last year," he said.

Outstanding players this year are John Greenside, Ralph Velez, Doug Hehnke, and Gary Velasquez.

Cheerleaders Promote Spirit

This years fantastic group of Cheerleaders worked towards a goal of increased spirit. Led by Captain Karen Brown, the group did an outstanding job of keeping spectators alive.

Cheerleaders: Captain Karen Brown, Marjorie Bartolome, Marsha Bracht, and Mascot Sally Harris.

Songleaders Devote Hours to College

These outstanding Songleaders worked in close contact with the Cheerleaders. The two groups combined efforts to make this one of the most spirited groups in the history of the school.

Songleaders: Charlene Williford, Miranda Edwards, Jill Miller, Crossen, Donna Overstreet.

Profusion of Political Forums

This year at S.B.C.C. students were subjected to a profusion of political forums. At the same time, candidates for all levels of office received untold assistance from students canvassing for donations and distributing information about their favorite candidate. Through the lunch time forums, students were able to hear both sides of many of the problems that plague us today.

Gary Hart, speaks to a capacity crowd at one of the many political forums.

Richard Romo, Candidate for Governor.

John Carpenter, Candidate for Sheriff.

Earth Day

S.B.C.C. students and the local Environmental Action group got together this year to sponsor 'Environmental Rights Day' festivities on West Anapamu Street. Booths were set up by students and other groups to enlighten the community to what individuals could do to help in the crisis we are faced with today.

Bike Day Shows Alternatives to Regular Transportation

Held at the beginning of this year, Bike Day showed local citizens a few of the many alternatives to our present day methods of transportation. The ride began at Alameda park and went down State street to West Beach, and along Cabrillo Boulevard to the Bird Refuge and park, where a picnic was held amid folk guitars and poetry.

'Life Cycle' Sculpture Given to College

This spring was the dedication of a sculpture created by Henri Toussaint, a 29 year old SBCC sophomore. The two ton concrete-marble sculpture depicts "the relationship between man and woman and the earth and the universe." It was begun last July by Toussaint who wanted, "to show how much I appreciated what City College was doing for me." The sculpture is on a four foot high, eight ton concrete base, and is located east of the College library.

Toussaint sandblasts the sculpture for its texture.

How Does Your Garden Grow?

An ecological garden was begun this spring by ecological minded students. The garden site is a one-half acre plot above La Playa Stadium. Expected to cost between $1,200 and $1,500, the funds necessary for the garden are being raised by the environmental Action Group. The organic vegetables grown on the site will be for student consumption and distribution for those in need.

Student Life on Campus

Life here on the SBCC campus is a unique and rewarding experience. Where no two days are the same, and boredom is hard put to maintain its existence, a mild year-round climate, early California architecture and abundant flora combined with mountain, sea, and sand, make Santa Barbara City College a truly unique place for students to study and attain an education.

Despite many freedoms on campus, rules still exist.

I never saw a moor,
I never saw the sea;
Yet know I how the heather looks,
And what a wave must be.

Nor visited in heaven;
Yet certain am I of the spot
As if the chart were given.
